OLD TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hambro's Cold Tea, or as the Germans call it, "Hambro's Cold Tea," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also insures the bowels thus breaking a cold at once. It is non-poisonous and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

The pallbearers were S. L. Carson, D. H. Prindle, George Strohm, J. D. Waggoner, and Jesse Prindle. Mr. Hurlburt is survived by a son, Thomas Hurlburt, of Echo, two daughters, Mrs. H. R. Newport of Hermiston, and Mrs. Mollie Scott of Bronx, Wyo., and several grandchildren.

WHITMAN NATIONAL FOREST IS ENLARGED

Approximately 50,000 Acres Are Added Including Lands on John Day.

PORTLAND, Feb. 15.—Acting under the authority of a special act of congress approved September 8, 1914, the president has, on recommendation of the secretary of agriculture, signed a proclamation adding approximately 50,000 acres to the Whitman national forest, Oregon. The land involved is situated on the divide between the John Day, Powder and Burnt rivers, in east-central Oregon. Over 4000 acres consists of timber lands which were included in patented entries. As the result of suits brought by the United States, the patents for these entries were canceled by the courts because they were acquired through fraud or mistake, and the lands were returned to government ownership. The cancelled claims carry a total estimated stand of nearly 4,000,000 feet B. M. of timber.

Much of the other land included in the addition is privately owned. It consists largely of cut-over timberland, on which the timber growth is rapidly reproducing. One portion of the act of congress authorizing the addition provides especially for the exchange of government timber for privately owned lands in the Whitman National Forest which may be chiefly valuable for the production of timber or the protection of streamflow. Several applications for exchange of this character have already been submitted.

Another sad effect of the high cost of living is the increased proportion of entry tops in the chop saw.

HYDROIDS TRIM HATS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Women's hats have to be trimmed. Secretary of Commerce Redfield told hardware men in convention here today, and when the war made impossible further importation of hydroids scraped from the bottom of the Baltic sea, the department of commerce searched the floor of Chesapeake bay and discovered enough of the filmy growth to give rise to a hydroid industry in America.

Secretary Redfield described this as one of the many duties devolving on his department. Hydroids are an aquatic growth resembling seaweed, which by a drying and chemical process are converted into a fluffy decorative material used by milliners. Other activities, he said, included sending men to Africa to learn what kind of clothes the natives wear, running paper and rubber mills and stone yards, conducting aviation research work, discovering and introducing new foods and charting rocks in the country's 25,000 miles of water.

The dog fish has been found to be an edible food, the secretary said, 424,000 cans of it having been placed in the market at 10 cents a can.

FAIR CO-EDS SPURN MEN WITH MEAGER INCOMES

OMAHA, Feb. 13.—If any of the way young Lotharios or Romeos of this bustling and enterprising village have designs on the charming co-eds at the University of Omaha, they are warned to look to their check books. Big, black eyes, pompadour locks, glistening white teeth and neatly manicured nails don't cut any ice with the Omaha co-eds.

An income of at least $1200 annually is the first inducement bachelors with an inclination to leap into the matrimonial sea with an Omaha co-ed must make. So the co-eds answered Prof. Harry Le Lamatre, instructor in economics when he asked them what they considered a suitable salary for a man who is going to be married.

When De Lamatre said he believed an income of $1000 a year was quite sufficient from an economical standpoint, the fair young thinkers burst forth with a simultaneous shout of protest and incredulity. "Who would want to live on that?" they answered. The Omaha co-eds don't demand luxurious limousines, birds of paradise for their hats, ermine coats or bejeweled shoes, but they insist it takes $1500 a year to keep a home going.

Upon hearing the views of their fair schoolmates the boys at the university promptly held an indignation meeting and decided to boycott what they called the extravagant co-eds and find girls who aren't filled with "highfalutin" ideas.

ROYAL HORSES TO HAUL COAL

VIENNA, Feb. 15.—Emperor Charles has ordered that his entire stable equipment be used for the distribution of coal which has accumulated at the depots. He also has issued orders to the army to assist with rolling stock and men. His order revealed that he is displeased with the work of certain officials and he is keeping in contact with the food and fuel problems.

The cold continues, although no more snow has fallen.

TO HELP YOUNG GIRLS

A Mother Wants Her Letter Published.

Eaton, Ill.—"I wish you would publish this letter for the benefit of young girls. My daughter suffered greatly from female trouble with cramps, and headache, and backache most of the time. She never felt like working and it seemed as though she was sick all the time. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped her in every way, in fact it has really cured her, for she no longer has periodic pains, and no more headaches or backache, and I want all young girls who suffer as she did to know about it."—Mrs. ALMA MILLS, Eaton, Ill.

Another Girl's Experience.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 1/2 South 15th St., Newcastle, Ind.

Girls who are troubled as these young women were, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
